The Lancaster stores are quite attractive in their gala attire of bright Christmas colors, holly decoration and tinsel in varied hues.

The automobile is a thing of yesterday and to-day, and maybe of tomorrow if the development of air transportation does not interfere with its permanency.

A good many years ago there was not known such a thing as early shopping, and the final days before the holiday season was one grand rush after another.

"Those stockings are very flimsy."

"All the girls are wearing them."

"They might do to wear, but they will never do to hang up as a spectacle for Christmas presents, my dear."

"Shop Early" will be the slogan of the people of Lancaster. All over the country early shopping is being advocated to eliminate the final rush during Christmas, and Lancaster people are taking up the movement with a great deal of zeal.

A year ago numerous traveling salesmen were suffering undesired leisure. A few of them committed suicide. This December begins with a prospect of the heaviest Christmas shopping since 1906, according to New York wholesalers and retailers.

Henry Ford seems to think that peace is a commodity purchasable for so many dollars, but peace that is peace is not bought, there are some things even money will not buy, one is peace in this world and the other is peace in the next. His ambition is noble but thoroughly impracticable.

Gaby Deslys, the famous French dancer, who is known as the "King deposer," arrived in New York a few days ago, and will be seen this winter on the American stage. She brought with her so many trunks and hat boxes that a huge moving van was necessary to cart them to her hotel.

An Eastern moving picture concern is looking over Bourbon county for a suitable location for making special pictures of stories of the Bible. It is rather strange that some other county save the one made famous by Bourbon boozers and blooded horses was not chosen for sacred work of that sort.

We seldom esteem a thing very highly if it costs us nothing. As a matter of fact we esteem it just in the proportion that we have to pay for it. We know if you do not cure enough for this paper to pay $1.00 for it you do not want it, therefore we will look over our list and if your paper is stopped you will know why.

The Central Record is published for you. The advertisements are for your benefit and you do not get its full value unless you read every advertisement. The advertisers in the Record want to sell their goods and are bidding for your patronage. While you are reading this issue, look over the advertisements. They will interest you.

In connection with his movement "to get the boys out of the trenches by Christmas," Henry Ford announced that he will spend as many millions as are needed to carry on a propaganda against war preparedness in this country and a bureau will be opened for this purpose in Washington, under direction of Oswald Garrison Villard of the New York Evening Post.

Some one says they can conceive of but one purpose the Ford peace mission will have served should it get as far as Europe. It will have proven beyond doubt all further discussion or peradventure that the "fool-killer" is merely a mythological personage. To term Mr. Ford's proposed peace mission a "wild goose chase" would be to dignify it and lend it color of plausibility.

Lancaster merchants will have large stock this season, and the Christmas shoppers will not find the need of going beyond their own domain to get what they want in the line of Christmas presents. The early shoppers, however, will get the pick, but there will be plenty of suitable presents left, because of the immense stocks which are carried this year. Every merchant in the city is urging early shopping, because of the fact that the early bird is more easily satisfied than the one that is belated.

HERBERT GULLEY ENDS LIFE

Carbolic Acid Taken With Suicidal Intent Proves Fatal.

J. Herbert Gulley aged about 33 yrs., oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Gulley, died at his home on Danville street yesterday afternoon about 5 o'clock from the effects of carbolic acid, taken with suicidal intent, in the bathroom of his home. He had threatened on several occasions to end his life, but his jovial and joking nature, had led his friends to believe that he had no such intentions. A few moments before five o'clock yesterday afternoon, he called at the room of Mr. Mike Hays, who rooms in the same building and asked for a glass which Mr. Hays gave him, at the time noticing he held in his left hand an ounce bottle, labeled "poison". Mr. Hays asked what it was and what he was going to do, he replied that he was going to take it, that it was not poison, but just labeled that way, and continued on into the bathroom. In a few moments he returned to the room of Mr. Hays and said he had taken the contents of the bottle and that it was carbolic acid. He laid down on the bed immediately, and said to Mr. Hays, "I'm gone", which were his last words. As soon as it was seen that he had taken the deadly drug, physicians were called and antidotes were administered, but death resulted in less than ten minutes.

About 3:30 o'clock he was in the barber shop of Mr. Maic House, while there he asked Mr. House if he ever knew of any one who committed suicide by taking carbolic acid and if it was a hard death. Mr. House told him the taking of carbolic acid was a most horrible, painful death, but Herbert calmly replied; "Well, I am going that way" at the same time showing a bottle of carbolic acid. Mr. House remonstrated with him, after which he told him he wanted to take a bath. Mr. House told him he could go in the bath room but must leave the bottle with him, to that he replied he would just let the bath alone and asked for a Bible. He was given a Bible and sat calmly reading it for about ten minutes, then asked for a pencil and tablet, saying he wanted to write a farewell note, in which he said no one was to blame but himself, for what he was about to do.

About 13 years ago he married Miss Pearl Ross, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Ross and she together with one daughter, Heison, survive. He is also survived by one brother, Mr. L. C. Gulley and two sisters, Mrs. Rozella Dunn of this city, and Mrs. Ike Dunn, of Lexington.

The tragic death of Mr. Gulley was a shock to the entire community and the family have the heartfelt sympathy of all in their sorrow.

Funeral services will be at Lancaster cemetery, tomorrow morning at ten o'clock, conducted by Rev. A. J. Ciere, assisted by Eld. F. M. Tinder.

Wanted good fat Turkeys at highest market price. H. B. Northcott.

CIVIC CARELESSNESS.

Did you see your friend toss a newspaper down on the street? It was a little thing and not of any great consequence. But when everybody, or a great number of bodies, do the same thing, it litters up the public places and gives the town an appearance of backwardness and slothfulness and decay which operates as a detriment in the minds of all progressive people, especially when these people are from a distance. But instead of throwing down the papers, and kicking other refuse into the street, suppose each citizen should make a practice of keeping the town clean and bright and attractive, wouldn't it be good for the eye to see? It's easy to do—if we want to do it.

CRITICALLY BURNED.

John C. Robinson, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Robinson, who reside on the Lancaster pike, was seriously burned yesterday. His mother had left the room and the precious child's clothing caught on fire from a open grate. Before the blaze could be extinguished his body was horribly burned. A physician was called, who did everything to alleviate the terrible sufferer. The burned child was three years of age, and a remarkably bright and interesting boy. Reports this morning are that the child's condition is critical. The many friends of the family deeply sympathize with them and earnestly hope for his complete recovery. — Danville Messenger.

POPULAR PASTOR ILL.

Rev. J. Rockwell Smith, the popular pastor of the Presbyterian church, was taken very ill of appendicitis last Saturday, and Sunday he was taken to Lebanon where he will be operated on by his family physician. He was accompanied by Mrs. Smith, Dr. Virgil Kinnaird, Messrs. Edd, Walker and Sautley Hughes, and John Farra. Mr. Smith has not only endeared himself to his own congregation since living in our midst, but he is loved and admired by every man, woman and child and many are the prayers for his speedy recovery.

It is hard to spare one, even for a short time, who by both precept and example spreads abroad the influence of Godly living, and we hope it will only be a short time until he is able to fill his accustomed walk in life.

CANDIDATE FOR CONGRESS

IN ELEVENTH DISTRICT.

Congressman Caleb Powers stated before leaving for Washington, that he would again be a candidate for Congress in the Eleventh Kentucky district, subject to the action of the Republican primary next August. It had been reported that he would retire from politics at the end of his term.

IT'S A CINCH

That Lancaster Will Get The Government Building.

A special inspector of the government was in the city last week to pass on the work recently contracted for and completed by Mr. Horace Herndon, for the soil investigation looking toward the foundation of the new Government Building. The work was accepted and Mr. Herndon was complimented upon its completion according to the government contract and specifications. The lot for this building is located on Danville street, and is known as the old Grant property and a portion of the Presbyterian church property. The option on this site was secured by Judge M. D. Hughes, the local real estate man and was the only option secured on any property for the building. In the book of estimates transmitted to the House soon after it convened last Monday, Secretary of the Treasury, McAdoo, asks for $5,000, "for beginning work on the new post-office at Lancaster".

STANLEY TAKES OATH.

As Kentucky's Governor.

A beautiful cloudless day in spite of chilliness, encouraged about fifty Gardardites to take a day off and attend the inauguration at Frankfort last Tuesday. They were joined by thousands of Kentuckians from all points of the state. The capitol city was gallily decorated and seemingly every resident was ready to welcome the visitors. The booming of a cannon at the state arsenal at 11 o'clock was the signal for the inaugural parade to start its two mile march to the Capitol, where on a platform erected near the entrance to the magnificent building, Judge Shackelford Miller, Chief Justice of the Court of Appeals, administered the oath of office, making Augustus Owsley Stanley, governor of Kentucky for a term of four years. In his inaugural address, before taking the path of office, Governor Stanley pledged himself to reduce the state debt, to abolish abuses in the various departments, to promote educational interests and advance good roads movement.

FACILITIES IMPROVED.

For the past two weeks the warehousemen of Lexington have been busy preparing for the opening of the market and on Wednesday all was in readiness. Since last year two of the thirteen sales houses have been enlarged and the opening of the 1915-1916 selling season finds the Lexington market better prepared than ever before to handle the tremendous volume of business which is annually transacted here.

While the redrying facilities of the market have not been increased since last year they were found entirely adequate to take care of the 56,000,000 pounds sold here then and will be ample for the rehandling of this year's crop.

COMMUNITY XMAS TREE.

Some of the active women of our town are planning to have a "Community Christmas Tree" during the week between Christmas and New Year.

The first tree of this kind was lighted but three years ago, in New York city. The idea was such a splendid one, a great evergreen sparkling from bottom to top with hundreds of tiny electric lights, standing on the public square, where everyone could enjoy it! Hundreds of towns, all over America intend to adopt it at this Yuletide. That great star that twinkled from the topmost twig of that giant tree, must have shot its sparks into every corner of our country, it seems.

The ministers of the different churches take charge of the exercises during the week, and the choirs assist leading the throng in singing, each church takes a different night and carols are sung around it for a week. Mr. W. A. Farnau after reading of this suggestion in last weeks paper came in tell us of the one he had seen in Omaha, Neb. He told of its beauty, and how every one enjoyed it and he is so anxious for Lancaster to have such a one he said he would gladly contribute $5. towards it. Are there others who want it and will assist in a material way—that is give their time and money toward it? It is intended for only the poor of Lancaster, but to be a heart warming spectacle for everyone of us, for we all get "poor in spirit" during the year's worries, troubles and sadness. Little grudges and hard feelings spring up in everybody. If we would all get together at this blessed Christmastide and strike the opening chords of "Joy to the World", "Holy Night" and "My Country 'Tis of Thee", all these petty thoughts will be laid aside forever. We would join hands, our voices would ring through the still night air and the County of Garrard would echo; "Peace on earth, Good will to Everybody."

HANDLING OF HOLIDAY MAIL

For the information and guidance of those mailing packages during the Christmas holidays, Postmaster Brown has issued the following instructions, which he said should be observed in order to expedite the handling of the great mass of mail matter at Christmas time:

"Prepay postage fully on all parcels. Address parcels fully and plainly. Place name and address of sender on all matter. Pack articles carefully and wrap them securely, but do not seal them, as sealed parcels are subject to postage at the letter rate.

"Mail parcels early. They may be marked, 'Do not open until Christmas'. Insure valuable parcels.

"Written inscriptions such as 'Merry Christmas', 'Happy New Year', 'With Best Wishes' and numbers, names or letters for purposes of description are permissible additions to parcel post mail. Other written additions subject the parcel to letter postage.

"Communications prepaid at the first class rate may be sent with parcels prepaid at the fourth-class rate, provided they are placed in envelopes securely attached to the outside of parcels.

"Great care should be exercised to see that packages are properly wrapped and packed and that packages containing fragile articles are marked, 'Fragile'. Such packages are handled with extra care to prevent damage and a great many of the complaints of damage to this class of matter are the result of failure of the sender to properly mark same."

A TREACHEROUS TROUBLE

Lancaster People Are Shown The Way Out.

Kidney diseases are very dangerous. They come on silently, gain ground rapidly and cause thousands of deaths that could have been prevented by proper treatment in the beginning. Nature gives early warnings of kidney disease—backache, twinges of pain when stooping or lifting, headaches and urinary disorders. If these symptoms are unheeded, there is grave danger of dropsy or possible Bright's disease. Doan's Kidney Pills have earned a reputation for their effectiveness in kidney troubles, and are known and recommended the world over. Lancaster residents should find convincing proof in the following statement. It's from a citizen of this locality.

R. C. Faulkner, R. F. D. No. 2, Box 134, Paint Lick, Ky., says: "I suffered for some time from a weak back. A dull pain through my loins gave me much trouble. I learned about Doan's Kidney Pills and used them. They soon removed the aches and pains." Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Faulkner had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

THE PIVOTAL QUESTION.

Said Joe to Sam in fierce debate
Upon the money question.
"You've answered well all other points,
Now here's my last suggestion:
When woman goes to cast her vote—
Some miles away, it may be—
Who, then, I ask, will stay at home
To rock and tend the baby?"

Said Sam, "I own you've make my case Appear a little breezy.
Suppose you put this question by,
And ask me something easy!
Yet, since the matter seems to turn
On this, as on its axis, Just get the one who rocked it when She went to pay her taxes!"

Christmas shoppers are filling the retail stores already. That means good times are here, not that they are coming. Sophisticated Wall Street has a saying that a man makes no profits until he spends them, so many a slip in there betwixt cup and lip. On that basis big profits have been made, for they are being spent. The retail shops are the last in the line. In order that their business may be good there must be a long chain of profits all the way from the original producer to the ultimate consumer. If the retail shops are expecting the best year since the year of bad memories, 1907, it is a demonstration that producers, whole-salers, distributors, carriers, have profited before them. The cities are the focus, and if the city is thriving in the way of spending, the country has thrived in the way of producing. Prosperity begins with the earth, and the beginning this year was the largest and soundest ever. Never were there such crops, and never such a demand for them. With the farmers prosperous it was a necessity that the railroads should be prosperous—that is, prosperous for railroads. Those are the two biggest industries, and their prosperity is a large beginning.

On that it is necessary to put the prosperity of the munitions makers, war brides, profits of blood money to some, but aid in a good cause to most,
and anyway assuring a vigorous circulation of cash. Unemployment is almost unknown, and anxiety is seldom less. "Let joy be unconfined" seems to be the motto for this fortunate land at a time when the rest of the world is sorrowful. The French say "there is something in the misfortunes of our friends which does not wholly displease us." Certainly Americans have no enemies that they would wish to suffer as the rest of the world is suffering, but the contrast between ourselves and the rest of the world could scarcely be greater. The conditions are none of our making. There is no reason why we should not enjoy our good fortune to the full, all the more surely, and with all the better heart, if we spare something for the needy overseas, or even at home.

TRACE DEATHS TO DRINK.

SURPRISE BIRTHDAY PARTY

Mr. Ben Ham was given a surprise party on Dec. 5th, it being the 73rd milestone he had passed in life's journey. There were about thirty present and wish him many returns of the natal day. Among those present were Mr. W. P. Ham, Mrs. C. H. Tarter,

W. D. Boyd and D. Carter of Sonerset,
Mrs. Sue Carpenter of Stanford.

OUR SICK.

Marksbury neighborhood is very ill at the home of his son J. G. Doty, Jr.
Mrs. Nannie Jennings who has been very ill of pneumonia is some better.
Mrs. Politt, whose life was desperately in now thought to be out of danger much to the gratification of her friends. Mrs. Will Dickerson who has undergone a slight operation is doing nicely. Will Rice Amon who has pneumonia is better. We hope all of these will soon be restored to good health.

AS TO SCANDALMONGERS.

Newspapers often, even commonly,
are charged with printing baseless stories reflecting upon reputable persons. The average man who makes the assertion that the press is a scandalmonger may share with the man who agrees with him inability to call to mind a specific instance of anything of the kind having been done by any reputable newspaper. But both participants in the conversation are comfortably certain that in assailing the newspapers of the community as reckless and ruthless gossipers they are starting facts that must be admitted generally.
Now as a fact, all must admit, the newspaper ignores scandals, covers up the faults of newspaper men in life, have beautiful obituaries written by the man he has wronged, we know of no profession that comes as near carrying out the Biblical injunction to turn the other cheek as journalism.

ACEY BUYS SALOON IN LEBANON.

J. W. Acey, formerly proprietor of a soft drink stand on Depot street here, has bought out the Buechel saloon in the Bond Hotel at Lebanon, and will go down early this month to take charge just as soon as arrangements for transfer of the license, etc., can be made.
Mr. Acey formerly conducted the same place in Lebanon which he now secures again.—Interior Journal.

BILLY SABBATH- DAY ETIQUETTE.

Observing the success of the Billy Sunday methods in the matter of conversion, Puck rises to suggest that the attempt be made to apply the same methods to other church ceremonies and activities, proposing the following formula:

Pastor (christening infant)—"What do you want to call this hunk of excess baggage, Boy?"

Presiding Parson—"What miserable muff divveth this skirt to be married to this king?"

The Bride's Father—"I'm the guy." Industrious Usher—"Slide, you ice-cart! Slide!"

Passing the Plate—"Come on across with the iron-men, you low-lived tightwads!"

Sunday School Superintendent—"All of you sinners that want to swat Satan, stand on one leg."

MINISTERS INDORSE Course of Gov.-Elect Stanley In Barring Liquor From Statehouse.

Resolutions commending the course of Governor-elect A. O. Stanley in the announcement that intoxicants will be barred from the Governors Mansion and State banquets during his term of office were adopted by the Louisville Ministerial Association at the regular monthly meeting of that body at the Young Men's Christian Association building to-day. The language of the resolution is as follows:
"This association wishes to put on record its gratification at the announcement that the Governor elect of Kentucky has declared that intoxicating liquors are to be barred from the Governor's Mansion and from State banquets during his term of office, and hereby extends its congratulations to Mr. Stanley."

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

In this issue of the Central Record appears the message of President Wilson in full. In it he recommends a program of preparedness, suggests ways of raising revenue, advocates a merchant marine and takes to task naturalized Americans who, through their sympathy for the belligerents in the present war, have endangered American neutrality. He declares the danger of disloyalty coming from within the borders of this country should be crushed out.

DANVILLE MARKET OPENS.

Sales Satisfactory, With No Rejections.

That the price realized for their tobacco was satisfactory to the seller, was convincing from the fact that no rejections were made from the sale that opened at Danville last Monday.
In all about 65,000 pounds passed under the auctioneering hammer of Col.
J. W. Scott, of Jessamine and Col. W.
S. Dunn, of Lincoln. The prices ranged from four to eighteen cents a pound and made a general average of about nine and a quarter cents. Owing to the extremely dry season very little high class tobacco was sold or offered.

UNDERWOOD.

Sunday morning Dec. 5th, Mrs.
Matilda Wilcox Underwood exchanged the Sabbath of earth for the never ending Sabbath of heaven. She died of pneumonia, attentive physicians and a loving attention being of no avail. At all times and under all circumstances she walked in the well beaten path of righteousness, she was a devoted wife, mother and sister and withal a woman of heroic mould in bravely meeting the stern requirements of life. She is gone, but because life and love are stronger than death she is still theirs.

Mrs. Underwood was born in Garrard county, August 7th 1847, early in life she married Mr. Luther Underwood and their four living children are;
Messieurs J. W. Bourne, Will Higney and Jim Miller and Mr. John Underwood. Besides her children she leaves two devoted brothers, Messrs Jim and Ben Wilcox of this county and one sister, Mrs. W. H. Underwood.

Mrs. Underwood was a life long member of the Christian church and the funeral services were held at her home near Danville Tuesday morning at ten o'clock, conducted by Eld. H. C. Garrison assisted by Eld. F. M. Tiner.
All that was mortal was laid to rest in the Lancaster cemetery. So this life has passed into the joy of her Lord but the memory of her life must prove a perpetual inspiration.

WHITTAKER.

Martha Jane Whittaker was born in Madison County, Kentucky, in December, 1845, and died at her home six miles west of Yates Center Kansas, November 22, 1915, aged 70 yrs. 11 mo.
and 13 days.

In the year 1860 she was united in marriage to Mr. Arch. Whittaker and to them six children were born. They are Mrs. Laura Rollins of Kansas City, Kansas, and the sons, J. I., R. T., W.
B. and C. A. Whittaker, all residing in Woodson, County. Besides her children she leaves many grand-children and one great-grand-child, three brothers and one sister to mourn her loss. Her husband having preceded her to the distant shore about two years ago.

Mrs. Whittaker confessed her Lord early in life and became a member of the Christian church. To the faith so early expressed she has ever remained faithful, and throughout the year she has proven herself a mother, a neighbor, a friend. All who knew her will miss her as a mother in God's Israel and their sympathy goes out to the sorrowing family.

Funeral services were conducted at the Christian church by her pastor, W.
F. Kohl, Tuesday afternoon, November 23rd. Interment at Graceland Cemetery.—Yates Center News, Kansas.

Mrs. Whittaker was a sister of Mr.
Alex West of this county and has many other relatives and friends here who will be sorry to know of her passing away.

MRS. CARRITHERS

FELT DISCOURAGED
Glad She Took Advice When Husband
Said, "Let's Get A Bottle of Tanlac."

Louisville, Ky., Dec. 8th.—Statement after statement is now being made in regard to the merits of Tanlac, the new medicine that is accomplishing such astonishing results in Louisville.
Mrs. Sallie Carrithers, residing at 3846 Grand Boulevard, city, wife of a well-known car builder at the L. & N.
Shops, said recently:

"My husband just simply forced me to take this Tanlac, but now I am glad that I took the medicine, as I am one of the happiest women in Louisville.
"I had always suffered from catarrh of the stomach, but my real trouble began when I ate something and had ptomaine poisoning as a result of it.
My stomach was in such a bad, sensitive condition that I could not eat anything.

"My husband said to me one day,
'Why don't you try this Tanlac?' I had tried so many things that I felt discouraged and told him that I believed nothing would help me.

"He took me for a walk one evening recently, and when passing the Taylor-Imaacs Drug Store, he said, 'Let's go in and get a bottle of Tanlac'. He had my arm and we went into the store together and bought a bottle of Tanlac.

"I waited until morning before I began taking the medicine. I took a dose before breakfast, one at noon, and a third at supper. That night I slept more soundly than I had in months.
I now have taken two bottles of Tanlac and I feel like I am cured. I am here to get another bottle, though, as my husband insists that I should do so.

"I simply cannot get enough to eat now. I never had such an appetite in my life. I enjoy everything I taste and I digest everything properly. My stomach is in excellent condition and the catarrhal trouble has disappeared.
My hearing has even improved. Tanlac is really a very wonderful medicine."

Tanlac is now being sold in Lancaster at R. E. McRoberts drug store, and in Bryantville by Becker, Ballard and Scott.

WAR PROFITS FOR THE MEN

The American hen is accustomed to praise. Every once in a while some enthusiast, battering upon statistics, proves her the incomparable bird, superior far to the goose that laid the golden egg. The figures do not lie;
the facts that all our hens combined, fancy and scrub stock, mother and incubator reared, lay 30,000,000,000 eggs a year, or 80,000,000 eggs a day.

These figures may not interest the American who cracks an egg between looks at his morning newspaper or the housewife who stirs eggs into a cake without thought of her good fortune.
But they are at once a lure and a dismay to the egg-eaters of Britain who realize that by comparison the British hen is scandalously inefficient. The British are also full of remorse at the neglect of the hen in the days of prosperity, when they brought their eggs of Scandinavia and Russia rather than turn their shooting parks into in-cubatories and their ruins into incubators.

As egg imports from Scandinavia decrease, the British look across the water at the American hen which, as the English said early in the war, is doing "business as usual." Yet a little while and life producing shells will join the death dealing kind in the export list. Of course we never have more than enough eggs for ourselves and foreign egg buying is sure to raise the price, but who is mean enough to deny the hard working farmer's wife who runs the poultry end of the farm a chance at war profits.

PRESIDENT WILSON'S MESSAGE

National Preparedness Main Theme of Head of Nation. Submits Definite Plan to Increase Present Standing Force of Regulars and For Four Hundred Thousand Citizen Soldiers Raised in Increments of One Hundred and Thirty-three Thousand.

FOLLOWING is the message of President Wilson delivered at a joint session of the senate and house at the beginning of the sixty-fourth congress:

Gentlemen of the Congress—Since I had the privilege of addressing you on the state of the Union the war of nations on the other side of the sea, which had then only begun to disclose its portentous proportions, has extended its threatening and sinister scope until it has swept within its flame some portion of every quarter of the globe, not excepting our own hemisphere, has altered the whole face of international affairs, and now presents a prospect of reorganization and reconstruction such as statesmen and peoples have never been called upon to attempt before.

We have stood apart, studiously neutral. It was our manifest duty to do so. Not only did we have no part in the conflict; we had no interest in the policies which seem to have brought the conflict on. It was necessary, if a universal catastrophe was to be avoided, that a limit should be set to the sweep of destructive war and that some part of the great family of nations should keep the processes of peace alive. If only to prevent collective economic ruin and the breakdown throughout the world of the industries by which its populations are fed and sustained. It was manifestly the duty of the self-governing nations of this hemisphere to redress, if possible, the balance of economic loss and confusion in the other, if they could do nothing more. In the day of readjustment and recuperation we earnestly hope and believe that they can be of infinite service.

In this neutrality, to which they were hidden not only by their separate life and their habitual detachment from the politics of Europe, but also by a clear perception of international duty, the states of America have become conscious of a new and more vital community of interest and moral partnership in affairs, more clearly conscious of the many common sympathies and interests and duties which bind them together.

There was a time in the early days of our own great nation and of the republics fighting their way to independence in Central and South America when the government of the United States looked upon itself as in some way the guardian of the republics to the south of her as against any encroachments or efforts at political control from the other side of the water; that it its duty to play the part even without invitation from them, and I think that we can claim that the task was undertaken with a true and distinguished enthusiasm for the freedom of the Americas and the unimpaired self-government of her independent peoples. But it was always difficult to maintain such a role without offense to the pride of the peoples whose freedom of action we sought to protect and without provoking serious misconceptions of our motives, and every thoughtful man of affairs must welcome the altered circumstances of the new day in which light we now stand, when there is no claim of guardianship or thought of wards, but instead a full and honorable association as of partners between ourselves and our neighbors in the interest of all America, north and south. Our concern for the independence and prosperity of the states of Central and South America is not altered. We retain unabated the spirit that has inspired us throughout the whole life of our government and which was so frankly put into words by President Monroe. We still mean always to make a common cause of national independence and of political liberty in America. But that purpose is now better understood so far as it concerns ourselves. It is known not to be a selfish purpose. It is known to have in it no thought of taking advantage of any government in this hemisphere or playing its political fortunes for our own benefit. At the government of America stand, so far as we are concerned, upon a footing of genuine equality and unquestioned independence.

We have been put to the test in the case of Mexico, and we have stood the test. Whether we have benefited Mexico by the course we have pursued remains to be seen. Her fortunes are in her own hands. But we have at least proved that we will not take advantage of her in her distress and undertake to impose upon her an order and government of our own choosing. Liberty is often a fierce and intractable thing, to which no bonds can be set and to which no bounds of a law men's choosing ought ever to be set. Every American who has drunk at the true fountains of principle and tradition must subscribe without reservation to the high doctrine of the Virginia bill of rights, which in the great days in which our government was set up was everywhere among us accepted as the creed of free men. That doctrine is: "That government is or ought to be instituted for the common benefit, protection and security of the people, nation or community;" that "of all the various modes and forms of government, that is the best which is capable of producing the greatest degree of happiness and safety and in most effectually secured against the danger of maladministration; and that when any government shall be found inadequate or contrary to these purposes a majority of the community hath an indubitable, inalienable and indefeasible right to reform, alter or abolish it in such manner as shall be judged most conducive to the public weal." We have unhesitatingly applied that heroic principle to the case of Mexico and now hopefully await the rebirth of the troubled republic, which had so much of which to prout itself and so little sympathy from any outside quarter in the radical but necessary process. We will aid and befriend Mexico, but we will not coerce her, and our course with regard to her ought to be sufficient proof to all America that we seek no political ascendancy or selfish control.

PAN-AMERICANISM HAS NONE OF EMPIRE'S SPIRIT.

Economic Adjustments Inevitable Within the Next Generation.

The moral is that the states of America are not hostile rivals, but co-operating friends, and that their growing sense of community of interest, alike in matters political and in matters economic, is likely to give them a new significance as factors in international affairs and in the political history of the world. It presents them as in a very deep and true sense a unit in world affairs, spiritual partners, standing together because thinking together, quick with common sympathies and common ideals. Separated, they are subject to all the cross currents of the confused politics of a world of hostile rivalries; united in spirit and purpose, they cannot be disappointed of their peaceful destiny.

This is pan-Americanism. It has none of the spirit of empire in it. It is the embodiment, the effectual embodiment, of the spirit of law and independence and liberty and mutual service.

A very notable body of men recently met in the city of Washington, at the invitation and as the guests of this government, whose deliberations are likely to be looked back to as marking a memorable turning point in the history of America. They were representative spokesmen of the several independent states of this hemisphere and were assembled to discuss the financial and commercial relations of the republics of the two continents which nature and political fortune have so intimately linked together. I earnestly recommend to your perusal the reports of their proceedings and of the actions of their committees. You will get from them, I think, a fresh conception of the ease and intelligence and advantage with which Americans of both continents may draw together in practical co-operation and of what the material foundations of this hopeful partnership of interest must consist—of how we should build them and of how necessary it is that we should hasten their building.

There is, I venture to point out, an especial significance just now attaching to this whole matter of drawing the America together in bonds of honorable partnership and mutual advantage because of the economic readjustments within the next generation, when peace shall have at last resumed its healthful tasks. In the performance of these tasks I believe the Americas to be destined to play their parts together. I am interested to fix your attention on this prospect now because unless you take it within your view and permit the full significance of it to command your thought I cannot find the right light in which to set forth that particular matter that lies at the very front of my whole thought as I address you today. I mean national defense.

No one who really comprehends the spirit of the great people for whom we are appointed to speak can fail to perceive that their passion is for peace, their genius best displayed in the practice of the arts of peace. Great democracies are not belligerent. They do not seek or desire war. Their thought is of individual liberty and of the free labor that supports life and the unencumbered thought that quickens it. Conquest and domination are not in their reckoning or agreeable to our principles. But just because we demand an undisturbed government of our own lives upon our own principles of right and liberty, we resent, from whatever quarter it may come, the aggression we ourselves will not practice. We insist upon security in prosecuting our self-chosen lines of national development. We do more than that. We demand it also for others. We do not confine our enthusiasm for individual liberty and free national development to the incidents and movements of affairs which affect only ourselves. We feel wherever there is a people that tries to walk in these difficult paths of independence and right. From the first we have made common cause with all peoples of liberty on this side the sea and have deemed it as important that our neighbors should be free from all outside domination as that we ourselves should be; have set America aside as a whole for the uses of independent nations and political freedom.

Out of such thoughts grow all our policies. We regard war merely as a means of asserting the rights of a people against aggression. And we are as fiercely jealous of coercive or dictatorial power within our own nation as of aggression from without. We will not maintain a standing army except for uses which are as necessary in times of peace as in times of war, and we shall always see to it that our military peace establishment is no larger than is actually and continuously needed for the uses of days in which no enemies move against us. But we do believe in a body of free citizens ready and sufficient to take care of themselves and of the governments which they have set up to serve them. In our constitutions themselves we have commanded that "the right of the people to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed;" and our confidence has been that our safety in times of danger would lie in the rising of the nation to take care of itself, as the farmers rose at Lexington.

SUGGESTS BROAD PLAN FOR NATIONAL DEFENSE.
Increase Standing Regular Force—Four Hundred Thousand Citizen Soldiers.
But war has never been a mere matter of men and guns. It is a thing of disciplined might. If our citizens are ever to fight effectively upon a sudden summons, they must know how modern fighting is done, and what to do when the summons comes to render themselves immediately available and immediately effective. And the government must be their servant in this matter, must supply them with the training they need to take care of themselves and of it. The military arm of their government, which they will not allow to direct them, they may properly use to serve them and make their independence secure, and not their own independence merely. But the rights also of those with whom they have made common cause, should they also be put in jeopardy. They must be fitted to play the great role in the world, and particularly in this hemisphere, for which they are qualified by principle and by chastened ambition to play.

It is with these ideas in mind that the plans of the department of war for more adequate national defense were conceived which will be laid before you, and which I urge you to sanction and put into effect as soon as they can be properly scrutinized and discussed. They seem to me the essential first steps, and they seem to me for the present sufficient.

They contemplate an increase of the standing force of the regular army from its present strength of 50,000 officers and 102,955 enlisted men of all services to a strength of 73,000 officers and 134,707 enlisted men, or 141,843 all told, all services, rank and file, by the addition of fifty-two companies of coast artillery, fifteen companies of engineering, ten regiments of infantry, four regiments of field artillery and four aero squadrons, besides 750 officers required for a great variety of extra service, especially the all important duty of training the citizen force of which I shall presently speak, 702 non-commissioned officers for service in drill, recruiting and the like and the necessary quota of enlisted men for the quartermaster corps, the hospital corps, the ordnance department and other similar auxiliary services. These are the additions necessary to render the army adequate for its present duties, duties which it has to perform not only upon our own continental coasts and borders and at our interior army posts, but also in the Philippines, in the Hawaiian Islands, at the Isthmus and in Porto Rico.

By way of making the country ready to assert some part of its real power promptly and upon a larger scale should occasion arise the plan also contemplates supplementing the army by a force of 400,000 disciplined citizens, raised in increments of 133,000 a year throughout a period of three years. This it is proposed to do by a process of enlistment under which the serviceable men of the country would be asked to bind themselves to serve with the colors for purposes of training for short periods throughout three years and to come to the colors at call at any time throughout an additional "furlough" period of three years. This force of 100,000 men would be provided with personal accoutrements as fast as enlisted and their equipment for the field made ready to be supplied at any time. They would be assembled for training at stated intervals at convenient places in association with suitable units of the regular army. Their period of annual training would not necessarily exceed two months in the year.

It would depend upon the patriotic feeling of the younger men of the country whether they responded to such a call to service or not. It would depend upon the patriotic spirit of the employers of the country whether they made it possible for the young men in their employ to respond under favorable conditions or not. I for one do not doubt the patriotic devotion either of our young men or of those who give them employment—those for whose benefit and protection they would in fact enlist. I would look forward to the success of such an experiment with entire confidence.

At least so much by way of preparation for defense seems to me to be absolutely imperative now. We cannot do less.

COMPREHENSIVE PLAN FOR GREATER NAVY.
Always Looked To as Our First and Chief Line of Defense.

The program which will be laid before you by the secretary of the navy is similarly conceived. It involves only a shortening of the time within which plans long matured shall be carried out, but it does make definite and explicit a program which has heretofore been only implicit, held in the minds of the committees on naval affairs and disclosed to the public by the statements of the secretary of the navy, but never formulated or formally adopted. It seems to me very clearly that it will be to the advantage of the country for the congress to adopt a comprehensive plan for putting the navy upon a final footing of strength and efficiency and to press that plan to completion within the next five years. We have always looked to the navy of the country as our first and chief line of defense; we have always seen it to be our manifest course of prudence to be strong on the seas. Year by year we have been creating a navy which now ranks very high in deed among the navies of the maritime nations. We should now definitely determine how we shall complete what we have begun and how soon.

The program to be laid before you contemplates the construction within five years of ten battleships, six battle cruisers, ten scout cruisers, fifty destroyers, fifteen fleet submarines, eighty-five coast submarines, four gunboats, one hospital ship, two auxiliary ships, two fuel oil ships and one repair ship. It is proposed that of this number we shall the first year provide for the construction of two battleships, two battle cruisers, three scout cruisers, five destroyers, five fleet submarines, two gunboats and one hospital ship; the second year two battleships, one scout cruiser, two destroyers, four fleet submarines, fifteen coast submarines, one gunboat and one fuel oil ship; the third year two battleships, one battle cruiser, two scout cruisers, five destroyers, two fleet submarines and fifteen coast submarines; the fourth year two battleships, two battle cruisers, two scout cruisers, fifteen destroyers, two fleet submarines, fifteen coast submarines, one gunboat, one ammunition ship and one repair ship.

The secretary of the navy is asking also for the immediate addition to the personnel of the navy of 7,500 sailors, 2,500 apprentices seamen and 1,500 marines. This increase would be sufficient to care for the ships which are to be completed within the next year 1917 and also for the number of men which must be put in training to man the ships which will be completed early in 1918. It is also necessary that the number of midshipmen at the Naval Academy at Annapolis should be increased by at least 200 in order that the force of officers should be more rapidly added to, and authority is asked to appoint, for engineering duties only, approved graduates of engineering colleges, and for service in the aviation corps a certain number of men taken from civil life.

COUNTRY SHOULD HAVE FINE MERCHANT MARINE.
United States Should Be Its Own Carrier on the Seas.

If this full program should be carried out we should have built or building in 1921, according to the estimates of survival and standards of classification followed by the general board of the department, an effective navy consisting of 27 battleships of the first line, 13 battle cruisers, 25 battleships of the second line, 10 armored cruisers, 13 scout cruisers, 5 first class cruisers, 3 second class cruisers, 10 third class cruisers, 108 destroyers, 18 fleet submarines, 157 coast submarines, 5 gunboats, 20 gunboats, 4 supply ships, 11 fuel ships, 4 transports, 3 tenders to torpedo vessels, 8 vessels of special types and two ammunition ships. This would be a navy fitted to our needs and worthy of our traditions.

But armies and instruments of war are only part of what has to be considered if we are to consider the grave matter of national self-sufficiency and security in all its aspects. There are other great matters which will be thrust upon our attention whether we will or not. There is, for example, a very pressing question of trade and shipping involved in this great problem of national adequacy. It is necessary for many weighty reasons of national efficiency and development that we should have a great merchant marine. The great merchant fleet we once used to make us rich, that great body of sturdy sailors who used to carry our flag into every sea, and who were the pride and often the backbone of the nation, we have almost driven out of existence by inexorable neglect and indifference and by a hopelessly blind and provincial policy of so called economic protection. It is high time we repaired our mistake and resumed our commercial independence on the seas.

For it is a question of independence. If other nations go to war or seek to hamper each other's commerce our merchants, it seems, are at their mercy to do with as they please. We must use their ships and use them as they determine. We have not ships enough of our own. We cannot handle our own commerce on the seas. Our independence is provincial, and is only on land and within our own borders. We are not likely to be permitted to use even the ships of other nations in rivalry of their own trade and are without means to extend our commerce even where the doors are wide open and our goods desired. Such a situation is not to be endured. It is of capital importance not only that the United States should be its own carrier on the seas and enjoy the economic independence which only our own adequate merchant marine would give it, but also that the American hemisphere as a whole should enjoy a like independence and self-sufficiency. If it is to be drawn into the tangle of European affairs. Without such independence the whole question of our political unity and self-determination is very seriously clouded and complicated indeed.

Moreover, we can develop no true or effective American policy without ships of our own—not ships of war, but ships of peace, carrying goods and carrying much more important friendships and rendering indispensable services to all interests on this side the water. They must move constantly back and forth between the Americas. They are the only shuttles that can weave the delicate fabric of sympathy, comprehension, confidence and mutual dependence in which we wish to clothe our policy of America for Americans.

The task of building up an adequate merchant marine for America private capital must ultimately undertake and achieve, as it has undertaken and achieved every other like task among us in the past, with admirable enterprise, intelligence and vigor, and it seems to me a manifest duty of vision for legal obstacles that may stand in the way of this desired end, the revival of our old independent and self-sufficient shipping, to be removed as far as possible by the building, purchase and American registration of ships. But capital cannot accomplish this great task of a sudden. It must embark upon it by degrees, and opportunities of trade develop. Nothing must be done at once, done to open routes and develop opportunities where they are as yet undeveloped, done to open the arteries of trade where the currents have not yet learned to run, especially between the two American continents, where they are, singularly enough, yet to be created and quickened, and it is evident that only the government can undertake such beginnings and assume the initial financial risks. When the risk has passed and private capital begins to find its way in unimpeded abundance into these new channels the government may withdraw. But it cannot omit to begin. It should take the first steps, and should take them at once. Our goods must not be piled up at our ports and stored upon idle tracks in freight cars which are daily needed on the roads, must not be left without means of transport to our foreign quarter. We must not wait the permission of foreign shipowners and foreign governments to send them where we will.

With a view to meeting these pressing necessities of our commerce and availing ourselves at the earliest possible moment of the present unparalleled opportunity of linking the two Americas together in bonds of mutual interest and service, an opportunity which may never return again if we miss it now, proposals will be made to the present congress for the purchase or construction of ships to be owned and directed by the government similar to those made to the last congress, but modified in some essential particulars. I recommend these proposals to you for your prompt acceptance with the more confidence because every month that has elapsed since the former proposals were made has made the necessity for such action more and more manifestly imperative. That need was then foreseen. It is now acutely felt and everywhere realized by those for whom trade is waiting, but who can find no conveyance for their goods. I am not so much interested in the particulars of the program as I am in taking immediate advantage of the great opportunity which awaits us if we will but act in this emergency. In this matter, as in all others, a spirit of common counsel should prevail, and out of it should come an early solution of this pressing problem.

SHOULD AGREE ON POLICY IN THE PHILIPPINES.
Recommend Early Adoption of Measures Giving Them Fuller Justice.

There is another matter which seems to me to be very intimately associated with the question of national safety and preparation for defense. That is our policy toward the Philippines and the people of Porto Rico. Our treatment of them and their attitude toward us are manifestly of the first consequence in the development of our duties in the world and in getting a free hand to perform those duties. We must be free from every unnecessary burden or embarrassment, and there is no better way to be clear of embarrassment than to fulfill our promises and promote the interests of those dependent on us to the utmost. Bills for the alteration and reform of the government of the Philippines and for rendering fuller political justice to the people of Porto Rico were submitted to the Sixty-third congress. They will be submitted also to you. I need not particularize their details. You are most of you already familiar with them. But I do recommend them to your early adoption with the sincere conviction that there are few measures you could adopt which would more serviceably clear the way for the great policies by which we wish to make good, now and always, our right to lead in enterprises of peace and good will and economic and political freedom.

The plans for the armed forces of the nation which I have outlined and for the general policy of adequate preparation for mobilization and defense involve, of course, very large additional expenditures of money, expenditures which will considerably exceed the estimated revenues of the government. It is made my duty by law whenever the estimates of expenditure exceed the estimates of revenue to call the attention of the congress to the fact and suggest any means of meeting the deficiency that it may be wise or possible for me to suggest. I am ready to believe that it would be my duty to do so in any case, and I feel particularly bound to speak of the matter when it appears that the deficiency will arise directly out of the action by the congress of measures which I myself urge it to adopt. Allow me therefore to speak briefly of the present state of the treasury and of the fiscal problems which the next year will probably disclose.

On the 30th of June last there was an available balance in the general fund of the treasury of $104,170,005.78. The total estimated receipts for the year 1916, on the assumption that the emergency revenue measure passed by the last congress will not be extended beyond its present limit, the 31st of December, 1915, and that the present duty of 1 cent per pound on sugar will be discontinued after the 1st of May, 1916, will be $870,363,500. The balance of June last and these estimated revenues come therefore to a grand total of $774,533,005.78. The total estimated disbursements for the present fiscal year, including twenty-five millions for the Panama canal, twelve millions for probable deficiency appropriations and $50,000 for miscellaneous debt redemptions, will be $753,801,000, and the balance in the general fund of the treasury will be reduced to $20,732,005.78. The emergency revenue act if continued beyond its present time limitation would produce during the fiscal year remaining after the 1st of May about fifteen millions. These two sums, amounting together to fifty-six millions, if added to the revenues of the second half of the fiscal year would yield the treasury at the end of the year an available balance of $70,732,005.78.

The additional revenues required to carry out the program of military and naval preparation of which I have spoken would, as at present estimated, be for the fiscal year 1917 $95,900,000. Those figures, taken with the figures for the present fiscal year which I

EASY WAY TO MAKE HAIR ATTRACTIVE.

Ladies who find trouble in properly or attractively arranging and dressing their hair should try using a little Parisian Sage twice daily for a while and note the remarkable improvement. Parisian Sage, which can be obtained from R. E. McRoberts or any drug counter, makes the hair soft, lustrous, fluffy and wavy, takes out the dull, lifeless appearance, dissolves the dandruff and stimulates the hair roots into healthy normal action. Instead of merely sprinkling the hair, it should be rubbed right into the scalp with the finger tips. Parisian Sage is a delightful treatment for both hair and scalp, cannot possibly injure the hair and is very inexpensive. 12-9-2t.

HOW THE APOSTLES DIED.

Many of our readers, perhaps a large majority of them, old as well as young will find new information in the following paragraph taken from The Evangelist:

St. Matthew is supposed to have suffered martyrdom or was slain with the sword at the city of Ethiopia. In Egypt. St. Luke was hanged upon an olive tree, in Greece. St. John was put in a caldron of boiling oil at Rome, and escaped death at Ephesus in Asia. St. James the Great was beheaded at Jerusalem. St. John the Less was thrown from a pinnacle or wing of the temple and then beaten to death with a fuller's club. St. Phillip was hanged up against a pillar at Hierapolis, a city of Phrygia. St. Bartholomew was flayed alive by the command of a barbarous king. St. Andrew was bound to a cross, whence he preached unto the people until he expired. St. Thomas was run through the body with a lance at Gorumandel, in East India. St. John was shot to death with arrows. St. Simon Zealot was crucified in Persia. St. Matthias was first stoned and then beheaded. St. Barnabas was stoned to death by the Jews at Salania. St. Paul was beheaded by Nero.

IS YOUR RHEUMATISM A WEALTH PROPHET?

It is a sin to be a slave to the agonies of rheumatism whenever the weather changes. For 50 cents R. E. McRoberts or any druggist will sell you a bottle of Rheuma. Use as directed and your pains will soon disappear. Rheuma will put your kidneys and bowels in perfect condition. It gets to the seat of all the trouble and removes the cause by driving out the unnatural poisons. The use of one bottle will convince you that further suffering from rheumatism is needless. 11-9-2t.

Mrs. Jennie Manuel is much better. Little Ruby Cress has been quite sick. Mr. George Goin has moved to Goshen. Sunday is regular service at the M. E. church. Miss Mary Pettus was home from Hubbard Sunday. Little Eliza Cummins was quite sick two days last week. Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Cress were in Richmond Saturday. Mr. P. F. Kennedy has taken charge of the Baker store. Mrs. E. Foley and Miss Rachel Foley visited at Mrs. J. M. Cress. Messrs. Lyne and McWhorter, of Crab Orchard were here Sunday. Your choice of three grades of coal, Hudson, Hughes and Farnau. Mrs. Wm. Rankie is about the same, no improvement towards recovery noted. Mr. Bert Holtzclaw and Mr. Woodson Carpenter, who have been employed at Greensburg, Ind., are with their parents here. Rev. Thornberry, of the Louisville Theological Seminary preached Saturday and Sunday at the Baptist church. He is a native of Alabama.

Mr. J. C. McWhorter, of Crab Orchard, will speak here Sunday at 2 P. M. on "The Illegality of the Liquor Traffic". Speaking will occur at the Baptist church.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Owens boarded the evening train at Crab Orchard for Louisville to be at the bedside of Mrs. Alfred Pike, who is very ill. She is a sister to Mrs. Owens.

Master Clarence Anderson lost a valuable pony by death from distemper. The entire family shed tears of sorrow at the departure of "Jesse", their faithful equine friend.

While we were at Crab Orchard a few days ago we saw a nameless fowl in the yard of Mr. Sim Middleton. This rare avis is the progeny of the domestic hen and a guinea fowl. It possesses some of the features of each parent, and yet so unlike either in general characteristics as to appear grotesque in the extreme.

STOMACH MISERY QUICKLY VANISHES.

Your money back if you want it is the way in which R. E. McRoberts the popular druggist is selling Mi-o-na, the great dyspepsia remedy.

This is an usual plan, but Mi-o-na has so much merit and is so almost invariably successful in relieving all forms of indigestion that he runs but little risk in selling under a guarantee of this kind.

Do not be miserable or make your friends miserable with your dyspepsia. Mi-o-na will help you. If it doesn't tell R. E. McRoberts that you want your money back and he will cheerfully refund it.

A change for the better will be seen from the first few doses of Mi-o-na and its continued use will soon start you on the road to perfect digestion and enjoyment of food.

Mi-o-na has been so uniformly successful that every box is sold under a positive guarantee to refund the money if it does not relieve. What fairer proposition could be made?

R. E. McRoberts gives his personal guarantee of "money back if you want it" with every box of Mi-o-na that he sells. A guarantee like this speaks for the merit of the remedy. 12-2-2t

Sick headache is nearly always caused by disorders of the stomach. Correct them and the periodic attacks of sick headache will disappear. Mrs. John Bishop of Roseville, Ohio, writes: "About a year ago I was troubled with indigestion and sick headache that lasted for two or three days at a time. But This Does Not Bother Mrs. Burton, Under the Circumstances.

Houston, Texas.—In an interesting letter from this city, Mrs. S. C. Burton writes as follows: "I think it is my duty to tell you what your medicine, Cardui, the woman's tonic, has done for me.

"I was down sick with womanly trouble, and my mother advised several different treatments, but they didn't seem to do me any good. I lingered along for three or four months, and for three weeks, I was in bed, so sick I couldn't bear for any one to walk across the floor.

"My husband advised me to try Cardui, the woman's tonic. I have taken two bottles of Cardui, am feeling fine, gained 15 pounds and do all of my housework. Friends hardly know me, I am so well."

If you suffer from any of the ailments so common to women, don't allow the trouble to become chronic. Begin taking Cardui to-day. It is purely vegetable, its ingredients acting in a gentle, natural way on the weakened womanly constitution. You run no risk in trying Cardui. It has been helping weak women back to health and strength for more than 50 years. It will help you. At all dealers.

HIS FAVORITE.

A country clergyman, on his round of visit, interviewed a youngster as to his acquaintance with Bible stories. "My lad," he said, "you have, of course heard of the parables?" "Yes, sir," shyly answered the boy, whose mother had instructed him in sacred history. "Yes, sir." "Good!" said the clergyman. "Now, which of them do you like best of all?" The boy squirmed, but at last heeding his mother's frowns, he replied: "I guess I like that one where somebody 'loafs and fishes.'"
